

Ervin LASZLO (1932, Hungary)

Academician

International Academy for Systems and Cybernetic Sciences

Among the first system's philosophers, being known for the theories of "General Evolution" and "The Macroshift"

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Ervin László

Honorary doctorate for systems sciences,
he has published

"The Relevance of General Systems Theory.",

"The Systems View of the World." and

"Introduction To Systems Philosophy."

In 1993, in response to his experience with the Club of Rome, founder of the "Club of Budapest"

Having authored more than 400 articles and 75 books, editor of "World Futures: The Journal of General Evolution", past-President of the ISSS since 1995.

Member of three Academies,
he has applied system theoretical insights to global problems, <http://ervinlaszlo.com/notebook/biography/>