

Klaus KRIPPENDORFF

Gregory Bateson Professor Emeritus of Communication, The Annenberg School for Communication (since 1964), University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, PA 19104 USA

Key Research Contributions: Information Theory, Content Analysis, Krippendorff's Alpha Reliability, The Semantic Turn: A New Foundation for Design, Human-centered Design, Stakeholder Network Theory

Member, Board of the Business Systems Laboratory, 2012-present

Member, Advisory Board of the World Complexity Science Academy, 2011-present

Member, International Board of Economics & Business Knowledge, 2010-present

Trustee, American Society for Cybernetics (ASC), 1999-2008

President and Founder, International Federation of Communication Associations, 1991-2008

President, International Communication Association (ICA), 1984-85

Doctor of Philosophy honoris causa, Linnaeus University, Kalmar/Växjö, Sweden, 2012

“Article of the Year (2012)”, Communication Theory and Methodology division, AEJMC, published in Communication Methods & Measures 5, 2: 1-20, 2011.

Elected Fellow, American Society for Cybernetics, 2012

Medal for contributions to understanding complex systems, World Complexity Science Academy, 2011

Norbert Wiener/Hermann Schmidt Prize, German Society for Cybernetics, German Society for Pedagogy and Information, University of Vienna, 2004

ICA Fellows Book Award for Content Analysis; An Introduction to Its Methodology, 2004

Norbert Wiener Medal, American Society for Cybernetics, 2001

<https://www.asc.upenn.edu/people/faculty/kalus-krippendorff-phd>